ADVERTISEMENT.

THE undersigned begs leave to present the business community and the public generally, the first volume of the "BUSINESS DIRECTORY AND BALTIMORE ALMANAC," which it is his intention to continue every year, as long as he may enjoy life and health, and the work meet the approbation and patronage of the public.

That such a work is desirable, there can be no doubt; and its advantages may be readily seen by referring to the variety of its contents, which set forth, as far as possible, in the first issue, the entire internal operations of the city of Baltimore, and furnish valuable information in regard to other cities.

The miniature size of the work renders it very convenient both for the counting room and the traveller, as it may be readily attached to the desk or carried in the pocket. As a reference book, it can not but be of great advantage to all who desire information upon the numerous subjects referred to in its pages.

As this is but the beginning of the enterprize, and has thus far met with more favor than was anticipated, the publisher indulges a confident hope that it may be continued through many years, with constantly increasing interest both to himself and his friends. The knowledge gained by actual experience, in preparing for the first emission, will be of more value, to the publisher than any pecuniary profit he could possibly derive from it; and it is his purpose to apply that experience with untiring industry in his future efforts, and he cannot for a moment entertain the least fear but that he shall be able to give entire satisfaction to every individual who may patronize his exertions.

The volume for 1843 will be commenced early, and as many additions and improvements are contemplated, it is hoped that all interested in the success of a work so desirable, will respond to his call for information in relation to every subject of interest connected with the city.

In future, a complete list of the Business Community will be given, without charge, and without reference to subscriptions for the work; and it would be well for those who contemplate a change in business on the first of January, to advise the publisher of it as early as possible, so that he may be correct in his publication of their names, places of business, &c.

The next volume will be beautifully got up,—the inside will be embellished with appropriate devices, and the cover will be embossed in a very splendid style.

P R E F A C E .

It is needless to speak of the utility of a work like the one here offered to the public. The advantages of a panoramic view of a large city, announcing its entire internal arrangement, with the names and locations of its public institutions, buildings, etc. and also those of persons conducting every kind of business, must be apparent. To the stranger, as well as to the citizen, it cannot be but of great value, as it affords him, at a glance, almost any information he may desire in reference to the persons and places he may be in search of.

In the present volume there is contained no trifling amount of information, which has been procured at much expense and trouble; but the publisher has, notwithstanding, to acknowledge that he has fallen far behind his desires and intentions in the matter. In the beginning of his enterprize, he has encountered and overcome numerous difficulties, which cannot impede his progress in the future; and, life and health permitting, he anticipates, in another year, to make many important improvements. The information he has obtained, in relation to societies, institutions, etc. is imperfect and incomplete; but as the officers, whose duty it was to have communicated with him on the subject, and failed to do so, although called upon repeatedly through the public papers, will now see the necessity and importance of giving their attention to it, he therefore looks for no further impediment on this score. The Business Directory is not so complete as could have been desired. The plan of publishing by subscription, was not adopted with the intention to omit the name of any, but as a mere experiment, in order to ascertain the amount of patronage that might be relied upon; and having become satisfied that the work will commend itself to the general favor of the business community, the names of all persons and firms engaged in business, will be given, in succeeding numbers, without regard to their subscribing in advance.

The number for the coming year, will be got up in a style far superior to the present. Its internal embellishments will be more attractive, and a beautiful embossed cover, from an appropriate original design, will enhance the value of its exterior. The price of the book will be reduced, as there have been expenses attending the issue of this, which cannot fall upon any subsequent number.

The great difficulty attending the copying and printing the names of all persons correctly, in the beginning of the enterprize, is the apology offered for any imperfections that may have occurred in this department. As more time will be allowed, and greater care taken in future, this fault will be entirely obviated. Arrangements for the next number of the Business Directory will be commenced early, and it is the intention of the publisher to devote his whole time, during the Summer and Fall, to the collection of the most interesting and valuable matter that can be procured; he trusts that he shall be able to present the public with a volume which shall not be surpassed in importance by any work of its size.

With a view to the contemplated additions and improvements for the next issue, the publisher would make an early call upon the proprietors and superintendents of all the institutions in the city, and the officers of associations generally, to furnish him with such information as will enable him to bring them prominently before the public.

ECLIPSES.

In 1842, there will be five Eclipses,—three of the Sun, and two of the Moon. The first will be of the Sun, January 11, invisible in all North America, but visible and annular in the South Pacific Ocean.

The second will be a partial Eclipse of the Moon, January 26, invisible to the United States.

The third will be a total Eclipse of the Sun, July 7, invisible to all the United States. The path of Total Phase passes through part of Spain, the south of France, the north of Italy, Austria, Russia, Tartary, Chinese Tartary, and China, to the Pacific Ocean. At the northwest part of this continent, a partial Eclipse will be visible.

The fourth will be a partial Eclipse of the Moon, which will take place in the morning of July 22, invisible to the northeast part of the Union, but visible to the South and West.

Eclipse begins	D. H. M.	Moon sets, H. M.
At Norfolk, Va., . . . . .	22 4 39 m.	4 53 m.
At Charleston, S. C., . . . . .	22 4 25 m.	5 10 m.

The fifth will be an annular Eclipse of the Sun, December 31, invisible in all North America. The line of central and annular Phase will pass through the central part of South America, and over the Pacific Ocean.

The Planet VENUS will be Morning Star, from the beginning of the year to its superior conjunction with the Sun, March 5. From this, to its inferior conjunction, December 18, it will be Evening Star; and from this, to the end of the year, it will be Morning Star. JUPITER will be Morning Star, from the beginning of the year, to its opposition, July 10, and thence Evening Star, to the end of the year. MARS will be Evening Star, from the beginning of the year to its conjunction, June 25; and from thence to the end of the year, Morning Star. VENUS will be at its greatest brilliancy, November 13.

Directions for the Cultivation and Management of Flowers—for January.

Flowers and plants reared in rooms should not be confined in the dark. The rooms should be light and airy, and the plants placed in the sun as much as possible. They should be potted in a suitable soil, and carefully watered. The pot must be of a size to suit the plant, and the mould moderately moistened. The temperature of the room should range from 40 to 60 degrees. Cape bulbs should be put in early in this month. Hyacinths, Jonquils, Ixias, Lachenallas will flower early, if plentifully watered and properly attended. Azaleas, Rhododendron Roses, &c., may be forced by heat. The Camellia Japonica will swell and bloom if carefully managed. Narcissas, Tulips, &c., will flourish in a room with fire, if kept near a window. The water in the glasses should be changed once or twice a week, and they should be turned frequently to prevent them from growing to one side. Care must be taken to destroy the insects which are constantly appearing.

Directions for the Cultivation and Management of Flowers—for February.

Plants in this month require assiduous attention. In the night they should be elevated in the middle of the room, and the windows should be carefully closed. The temperature of the room should not be allowed to fall below 40 degrees. It is better to increase the heat by a fire in an adjoining room. Charcoal should not be put in the room to heat it, as it darkens the foliage and hardens the plants. The green fly that attacks the roses must be destroyed. Hyacinths and other bulbs must be regularly attended in tying up, &c. Camellias will display their varied beauties this month, and new varieties may be obtained by taking a camel-hair pencil, and putting it on the farina or pollen from the double sorts, which is a yellow substance, on the anthers; with this on the pencil, dust it lightly on the stiles of those intended to carry seed; the heat must be regulated properly, admitting the air at every favorable opportunity, and watering freely. They must be frequently sponged, which destroys the red spider that attacks them. Geraniums and other soft-wooded plants require a little more water towards the close of this month. Succulents seldom need much water.

Directions for the Cultivation and Management of Flowers—for March.

The air may now be more freely admitted to the plants, as the weather is milder than in the former months. They will require a little more water. Camellias must be treated as they were last month. Oranges and Lemons must not be kept too wet. It is a bad practice to bore holes in the tubs and half barrels in which they are placed. If Myrtles and Oleanders are infected with insects, they must be scrubbed with a strong decoction of tobacco, heated to about 100 degrees, wash them afterwards with soap and water. Geraniums must be kept airy, and not too much crowded. Lachenaleas, Oxalis, Ixias, Gladiolus, Watsonias, Babianas, &c., must be kept near the glass. The flower stems of Hyacinths, Tulips, Narcissas, &c., must be tied up to small stakes. This month is the best for repotting Cape and New Holland plants. Acacias, Erias, Leptospermum, Epaeris, &c., must not be deferred. Primulas should have an airy exposure.

Directions for the Cultivation and Management of Flowers—for April.

The sun becomes too powerful this month to have the plants much exposed to it. An eastern exposure is better than a southern. Plants now suffer most from want of air and water. Keep Chinese Roses and Geraniums near the light. Plants kept in the cellar during winter, such as Pomegranates, Lagerstræmias, Hydrangeas, Oleanders, Sweet Bays, &c., must be brought out into the open air about the middle of the month. Oranges and Lemons will begin to flower, and must have air. Geraniums must be kept five or six feet from the glass. Primroses, Azaleas, and Rhododendrons should be kept as much as possible in the shade. Calla Ethiopica require to stand in water while in bloom. Tie up the climbing plants. Hot-house plants will not suffer with heat of 100 degrees. Plants of the Cactee tribe require repotting; the bottom of every pot must be covered with an inch of pot shreds, or rough gravel, for drainage. Flowering stocks that have been kept in the green-house may be planted out in beds. Select those intended for seed, and plant the different kinds separately.

Directions for the Cultivation and Management of Flowers—for May.

Geraniums now ought to be removed from other plants while they are in flower, or they will grow spindly. Increase the quantity of water on all plants except succulents. Oranges, Lemons, Myrtles, Neriums, &c., may be brought out and planted in good light rich soil. Primroses and Polyanthus flourish best in the shade. Gasteria, Paeoniac Iron, Rhipidodendron, Howarthia and Apiera Aloe require to be repotted. Chamerops require large pots or tubs. Gardenia, especially the double flowers, may be watered more than in the colder months. About the tenth of the month all plants will be able to stand exposure. The Laurestinus, Hydrangeas, Roses, Primroses, Polyanthus, &c., may be taken out on the first. All flowers will brown and become stunted if too much exposed to the sun, and are not frequently watered. A north-eastern aspect is now the best. Daphne, Coronilla, Fuchsia, Camellia, do not flourish in a bright sun during summer. From this to September, do not expose the shrubby plants to the sun.

Directions for the Cultivation and Management of Plants—for June.

Flowers are now in almost as much danger from excess of heat as they are in winter from the cold. The heat of the sun will soon destroy the Daphne odora. If the soil is drawn in the form of a cone around the stem, throw off the water to the edges of the pot, that the stem may be dry above the roots, otherwise mortification will be likely to take place. When the foliage of the Ixia, Oxalis, Lachenalia, &c., begins to decay, turn the pots on their sides; this will ripen the roots; and, when perfectly dry, clear them from the soil, and wrap them up in paper, label them, and put them away for planting in due season. Keep the plants in the open air, under an awning if possible, and, when there is no rain, give them a gentle sprinkling every evening; examine constantly for insects, and destroy them as often as they appear. Succulents of the Cactea tribe, such as the Cereus, Mamillaria, and Opuntia, thrive best in a partial shade and in an airy situation. Plants of a straggling growth should be neatly tied to rods. Give them regular syringes or sprinklings from a rose water pot.

Directions for the Cultivation and Management of Flowers—for July.

The only attention requisite for most plants now, is in giving water, protecting from the sun, and watching the insects. If there has been no rain during the day, give water every evening. All require plenty of water, except the Lemon, scented Geranium, and those kinds that are tuberose-rooted, as Ardens, Bicolor, Tristum, &c. These should have moderate supplies. All plants should be turned round once in a while to prevent them from growing to one side. Camelias require careful watering with a rose water-pot. If the foliage of the Lilium, Longiflorum, or Japonicum, has decayed, do not water them while dormant, as they are easily injured by it. Look over the flowers every evening, and after dry nights, in the morning also. Look every week for insects, and, if any appear, have them destroyed immediately. After heavy rains be careful to examine the pots, and see that no water is left standing in them to injure the roots. When any is found turn the pot on its side.

Directions for the Cultivation and Management of Flowers—for August.

Examine the Myrtles, Oranges, Lemons. Oleanders, &c., and see if the young shoots are pushing out, and cut off all but those necessary to form the tree. Those which were headed down should have but about six shoots left. Geraniums require a complete dressing. Cut off the wood of this year to within a few eyes of that of last. Plants from cuttings should be cut to a few inches above the pot. Calla, Cyclamen, Lachenalia, Oxalis, Ornithogalum, &c., require re-potting. The seed of the Reseda odorata, or Mignonette, should be sown about the end of this month in pots of light earth; they should be sprinkled frequently with water. Cape bulbs, as Sparaxis, Ixia, &c., should now be planted. Plants which are growing freely should have larger pots. In turning out the ball of earth keep it entire, so that the roots may not be disturbed. The cool nights commence towards the end of the month, when great care should be taken of the tender plants. The ladies should cultivate the Cyclamen for its beauty.

Directions for the Cultivation and Management of Flowers—for September.

The plants should be overhauled this month, and all the remaining insects destroyed. The Geraniums repotted in August must not be too much watered, nor at all until the soil is becoming dry. The herbaceous plants and those of a succulent nature must be sparingly supplied. Remove the best Crysanthemums from the garden into eight inch pots, and they will flower beautifully in December. Some Cape and Holland bulbs require repotting, as Babianca, Gladiolus, Ixia, Lilium, Oxalis, Tritonia, Watsonia. Try to let the Geraniums grow short and bushy. Thin out the Mignonettes and Oleanders, &c., and do not let the young shoots be crowded. Stocks and wall flowers should be lifted before the end of the month, and planted in seven inch pots, with light loamy soil. Keep them in the shade, and sprinkle them frequently with water. Bulbs require but little water till they begin to grow. Hyacinths, Tulips, Narcissas, Iris, Crocus should be planted in soil of four eighths loam, two eighths leaf mould, one eighth decomposed manure, one eighth sand, well mixed, the pots to be from five to seven inches.

Directions for the Cultivation and Management of Flowers—for October.

Oranges, Myrtles, Lemons, Oleanders, Limes, &c., should be taken in the house. The Limes must be kept in the warmest part of the room. Water now in the morning. Lagerstremia, Sterculea, Hydrangea, Pomegranate, and other plants, may be placed in a dry cellar; give them air, and water them once or twice during the winter. Anemones, Daphne, Primula, Peonia montan, &c., should be repotted: they must not be exposed to the sun while in flower. Camellias should now be examined and selections made. They are now in a state to be transported hundreds of miles without injury, if packed in close boxes. Camellia seed must be sown as soon as ripe; cover them one inch under ground. Bulbous roots intended to flower in glasses should be placed in them this month, in a cool room. After the fibres begin to push a few shoots, remove them to warmer apartments. Hyacinths and other Dutch bulbs, with Cape bulbs, beginning to grow, should be put in pots forthwith.

Directions for the Cultivation and Management of Flowers—for November.

The plants are not now in active vegetation, and they should be frequently aired, but watered sparingly. Look over them three or four times a week. Succulents need a little water about once in three or four weeks. Supply Amaryllis that are dormant moderately. Dry the tender bulbs properly, and place them in a box of very dry sand or moss. They can be potted the first of April. Place the autumn flowering Cape bulbs near the glass, and out of the shade of other plants. The Oxalis may be made to bloom this month; it must be kept in the sun, that it may expand freely. Camellias will flower from this until April. Pure air and proper watering are what the plants now require. Be careful to turn the Geraniums and other growing plants, that they may have an equal share of light on all sides. Keep the shutters closed at night, and admit the air in small portions during the day. Be mindful of sudden changes of weather, and keep the temperature of the room at about 50 degrees. Dutch bulbs should not be kept longer out of the glasses. Remove all the decayed leaves.

Directions for the Cultivation and Management of Flowers—for December.

The weather in this month is so uncertain that the florist must be constantly on the watch. Keep the temperature as regular as possible, about the same as last month. Let in the air whenever it can be done without injury, especially about noon, in small quantities. The room should not be kept too long shut up. Thirty-six hours is long enough. Never allow the plants to be kept in darkness over one night. Withdraw the plants from the windows during nights of very severe frost. Do not water until the soil is becoming dry. But if there are Hyacinths and other Dutch bulbs growing, supply them liberally. Destroy the insects as soon as they appear. Clean the foliage with sponge and water frequently. Turn the plants often. Roses may be obtained by keeping them in a warm room that has a south window. Supply bulbs in glasses with water once a week. Camellias in bud and flower must not become dry. Air and wash them frequently. They will not flourish with a coal fire.

WILLIAM FELL, from whom "Fell's Point," in the eastern part of the city of Baltimore, derives its name, was a ship carpenter, and member of the Society of Friends in Lancashire. He emigrated with his brother, Edward Fell, who was a merchant, to America, and purchased of Mr. Lloyd Harris the tract of land which still bears his name, and which was then called Copus's harbor. On this tract he erected a mansion house, which is still standing on Lancaster street. The family of Mr. Fell worshipped in a house which was built by a company of Quakers near the one mile stone on the Hatford road. The land on which the meeting house was built was appropriated to the company by a Mr. Taylor—being a part of his farm. He purchased the property of a Mr. Fotherell, consisting of a mill, and the first brick house with free-stone corners, and the first which was two stories high, without hip roof, in the town. It stood on the North-western intersection of Calvert and Chatham (now Fayette) streets. In 1745 he was appointed one of the Commissioners for laying out Baltimore and Jones' Town. He died in the year 1746.

Major THOMAS SHERIDINE took up land in Baltimore County in the year 1721. In 1723 he was appointed one of the visitors of the County School, under an act of the Legislature which provided for the free schools in the State. In the year 1732 he was appointed County Justice, and in 1734 he purchased the Kingsbury lands at the head of Back river. He was appointed Commissioner in 1745, in conjunction with several others, to erect the two towns of Baltimore and Jones' Town into one, under the name of Baltimore Town. In the year 1750, he became the owner of Cole's harbor and Moutenay's neck, east of Jones' Falls, when High street, from Plowman to French street, including about eighteen acres, was added to the town. He offered the lots for sale on both sides of High street. He agreed, with a number of others, to take up lots in Baltimore Town for the encouragement of settlers, and his name stands at the head of a list subscribing nineteen pounds, the largest amount subscribed by any one person, for the erection of a market-house and town-hall. He was elected a member of the House of Delegates, and was a prominent actor in the early settlement of the town of Baltimore. His death took place about the year 1754, leaving a respectable amount of property in the town, in the prosperity of which he manifested so much interest.

JOHN MOALE was the son of a gentleman of the same name who emigrated from Devonshire, where he lived in the occupation of a merchant. He owned considerable land, and carried on an extensive business near the residence of Mr. Fell. The inhabitants of the vicinity applied to him for land on which to lay out the town of Baltimore, but the abundance of iron ore which it furnished, rendered it too valuable to him to part with it on such terms as would suit those who proposed to purchase. This was a very fortunate circumstance, as it prevented the town from occupying a location which might have for ever prevented its prosperity. Being defeated in their first efforts by Mr. Moale, the inhabitants prepared an Act of Assembly "for creating a town on the north side of the Patuxent, in Baltimore County, and for laying out into lots, sixty acres of land, in and about the place where one John Flemming now lives." This Flemming lived on some land which was the property of Mr. Carroll, and lived in a house which was then called a Quarrier, and stood near the corner of Udder's alley and Charles street. Mr. Moale, after the death of his father, became interested in the success of the town, and sketched a plan of it, including about twenty-five houses, only four of which were of brick. One of these, or a part of it, is still standing at the corner of Calvert and Bank streets. He built in 1754, a brick house on the corner of Calvert street and Lovely lane, and one on the lot where the Sunday school of St. Peter's Church now stands. In the year 1755, the Indians having, in conjunction with the French, defeated Gen. Braddock, went over the country in search of plunder, and came within about eighty miles of the town. The inhabitants became alarmed, and the women and children were placed on board of several boats and vessels in the river, to be sent down the bay for safety in case of an attack. In this arrangement Mr. Moale bore a conspicuous part. In 1767, he was elected a member of the House of Delegates, and appointed by that body a commissioner, with others, to build a Court House and prison on the uppermost part of Calvert street, next Jones' Falls, which at that period, took its course in that vicinity. The Court House was built accordingly on the spot where the Battle Monument now stands, and the prison on the west end of the same lot, near the place now occupied by the Masonic Hall in St. Paul's street. Mr. Moale, in conjunction with Mr. Steeger, in 1773, was appointed to add eighteen acres to the town.

They selected the land between Gay and Front streets. He was appointed trustee for the erection of an Alms House on North Howard street. The same was, by law, to be considered a work-house for idlers and paupers. The house was partly consumed by fire in 1776. In 1774, committees were appointed by the several counties for the purpose of devising the best method to pursue in relation to the invasion of the British army, and to assist in carrying out the measures of Congress in that day of trial. Mr. Mode was chosen on the committee for Baltimore town; his name was also returned from the county. He was appointed on the committee to address General Washington, who passed through Baltimore on the 8th of September, one month before his victory at Yorktown, in company with Count Rochambeau, General Ham, Maj. Gen. Baron Vroment, Brig. Gen. Chateaux, and Gen. Clinton. The town was illuminated on the occasion. He was in 1788, appointed one of four county justices to be associated with the Chief Justice, Samuel Chase, in the trial of male persons for felonies, &c. and who were, if guilty, to be condemned to work on roads leading to the town. He died at an advanced age on the 5th July, 1798. At the time of his death he was one of the presiding justices of the County Court.

THOMAS TODD was the son and heir of Captain Thomas Todd, a gentleman who removed from Virginia to Maryland, and purchased land at North Point in 1662. In 1734, he was appointed commissioner for laying out a town of ten acres into twenty lots, valued at 150 pounds of tobacco each. It was first called Jones', then Jones' Town. This town, which rendered Mr. Todd and his brother commissioners famous, followed the course of Jones' Falls, and consisted of one street with three prongs. It commenced at a great gully, near where Pitt street now runs, and extended to the intersection of Front and French streets. He was a gentleman of some celebrity in his day, and left some property in the town he was interested in establishing.

EDWARD FOTTERALL emigrated from Ireland in 1740. He purchased land from the Carroll family, and built of imported bricks, a house in Calvert street. Soon after he erected the building he returned to Ireland, where he died. The house he had taken great pains to build, and which he spared no pains to render strong and substantial, was deserted after his death, and afforded shelter for a number of the French neutrals, who fled from Acadia and Nova Scotia in 1756. Here they established their quarters, and erected a temporary chapel. The deserted estate of Fotherall afforded those miserable creatures an asylum, who by their industry, got into the possession of a number of lots where South Charles street now stands, on which they threw up many cabins and huts made of mud and mortar. The place was, for a long time, called French town; some of their houses are yet standing.

WILLIAM DARBY LUX, son of Darby Lux, who in the year 1733, was extensively engaged in the London trade. He was one of the commissioners for uniting Baltimore and Jones' towns into one, and having purchased lots No. 43 and 44, on the west side of Light street, he built a comfortable dwelling, and conducted a very respectable business. The son, and subject of this memoir, early identified himself with the interests of the new town of Baltimore, and became an active and useful citizen. He was appointed in 1750, to superintend the erection of a tobacco inspection house on the west side of Charles street, near Ulmer's alley. In conjunction with two other gentlemen, he erected houses on the bank, near the shore of the Patuxco. One of the houses was built on the east side, one on the west side of Light street, and near the west end of Bank street; the other further east, near South street. This part of the town was enclosed by a fence, having "a gateway for carriages on the north end of Gay street, another at the west end of Baltimore street," and a third, smaller than the rest, for passengers on foot, near St. Paul's Church, on the hill at the head of Charles street. This fence was kept in repair by subscriptions paid by the inhabitants. Mr. Lux was one of those who subscribed for the erection of a market-house and town-hall; his subscription was five pounds sterling. He was elected to the House of Delegates in March 1751. He owned a sloop which was the only vessel, except one, owned by any inhabitant of the town. He was appointed one of the commissioners of a lottery in 1753, for raising 450 pieces of eight (dollars) for building a public wharf. In 1774, he was chosen trustee for building a house for the poor. He established a rope walk on the south shore, near Lee street, which was then a thick forest. He was included in the committee of reception to meet Gen. Washington and his company, when marching to Yorktown.

WILLIAM STONE. This gentleman succeeded Thomas Greene as Governor of Maryland in 1649. His predecessor, without sufficient foresight or prudence, after the beheading of Charles the First, proclaimed for the Prince of Wales, and declared him to be the rightful heir to all his father's dominions. For this offence he was displaced, and Mr. Stone appointed his successor. Soon after Mr. Stone's appointment, the Assembly was divided, by law, into two houses, in order that the one might operate as a check upon the other, and administer the Government more to the satisfaction of the people. It was supposed that this arrangement would reconcile a difference then brewing between the puritans and the lord proprietary's government. The puritans had settled at a place which they called Providence, which occupied the site on which the city of Annapolis now stands. These settlers, at first, became disaffected on account of religious scruples, but political disagreements intervened, and placed an insurmountable barrier between them and the officers of the colony, who were appointed under the control of the lord proprietor. Governor Stone made several attempts to reconcile the parties, but without effect, and in one instance aroused the displeasure of the lord proprietor for acceding to some views of the puritans. The lord proprietor reprimanded him for his submission, and directed him to resume his former authority by force of arms. The governor placed himself at the head of a party, and erected a new county which they called Calvert. After a variety of changes in the fortunes of the belligerents, a battle was fought near Providence, (now Annapolis,) in which several lives were lost, and the governor captured. He was tried, and condemned to be shot, but the soldiers of the colony were so much attached to him, that the victors were afraid to take his life. He was held a long time a prisoner, and afterwards released, but never regained his former standing.

GEORGE CALVERT was born at Keppling, Yorkshire, in 1562. He was educated at Oxford, and made Knight, and Clerk of the Privy Council, by James I. He was afterwards Secretary of State. He joined the Roman Catholics in 1624, and resigned his Secretaryship. In 1625, he was raised to the peerage of Baltimore. He attempted to make a settlement upon the island of Newfoundland, but was prevented by the invasions of the French. He afterwards received from the king a grant of land in North America, and effecting the establishment of a colony upon that part of the continent now occupied by the State of Maryland. He was just in his dealings to the Indians, as well as to the colonists, and obtained the esteem of all. He was a member of parliament, and the author of several political papers. He died in London, in 1632.

JOHN CARROLL was born in the State of Maryland in 1732. He was educated at St. Omer, in Flanders, and brought up a Roman Catholic. In 1769, he was ordained by the priest, and attached himself to the order of Jesuits. In 1770, he travelled in company with Lord Stourton over Europe, and on his return was appointed to a professorship in the college at Bruges. He returned to America in 1775. It was his purpose to have returned sooner, but the order of the Jesuits having been suppressed by the Pope, he thought proper to retire in England. He was some time engaged in endeavoring to conciliate the Pope, in order that he might alter his decree in relation to the Jesuits. As secretary general to his scattered brethren, he labored excessively to effect their restoration. In 1786, he was requested to accompany Charles Carroll of Carrollton, Benjamin Franklin, and Samuel Chase, on an embassy to Canada, for the purpose of obtaining the consent of the authorities of the province to remain neutral during the war between America and England. The Roman Catholic clergy having solicited the Pope to grant them a head in America, Mr. Carroll was appointed vicar general, and fixed his residence in Baltimore. In 1789, he was chosen the first bishop of the United States, and after his consecration in England, he assumed the title of Bishop of Baltimore. He was liberal in his views, and much respected by other sects. A little before his death he was made Archbishop. He died December 3, 1815. His remains were conveyed to St. Peter's, in Saratoga street, where they were laid out in state, and the citizens permitted to view them.

SAMUEL CHASE was born in Somerset County, Maryland, April 17, 1741. His father, who was a man of learning and a clergyman, had him educated for the bar at Annapolis. At the age of twenty he was admitted to practice, and in a few years arose to eminence. Having been elected to the colonial legislature, he soon distinguished himself as the avowed enemy of the royal governor and the court party. He was foremost in denouncing the stamp act, and soon arose to the head of the party opposed to the British government. June 22, 1744, he was appointed by the Maryland convention to represent the state in the general Congress at Philadelphia. With a fearlessness which became a revolutionary patriot, he proclaimed to the Congress that the reverend Dr. Zubly, a delegate from Georgia, was a traitor to the cause of American liberty, and the reverend gentleman was forced, in consequence of it, to flee for his life. He was one of the most active members of the Continental Congress, and among the foremost in placing his name upon the Declaration of American Independence. In 1783, he was sent to England by the Legislature of Maryland, to recover stock from the Bank of England, as well as large amounts of money which were due to the State. He was made Chief Justice of the General Court in Maryland, and afterwards Associate Judge of the Circuit Court of the U. S. by Gen. Washington. After an eventful life, during which he was engaged in some of the most important scenes that ever occurred, his demise took place on the 19th June, 1811. As a patriot and statesman he was unsurpassed by any man of his day, and in the memory of his countrymen, he ranks as one of her proudest and noblest sons.

JOHN EAGER HOWARD was born in Maryland, June 4, 1752. He was appointed captain of a company of the colonists, when they began their resistance to the oppressive government of Great Britain, and in a short time afterwards he was chosen major in one of the seven regiments raised in Maryland. In 1779, he obtained the position of lieutenant colonel. After the battle of Hobkirk's hill, and death of Colonel Ford, he succeeded to the command of the second regiment. He was one of the most efficient coadjutors of General Greene in the South. At the battle of the Cowpens he so signally distinguished himself, that it is said he turned the fortunes of the day by a most desperate charge with fixed bayonets, to which he led his men. He had, at one time, in his hands, the swords of seven British officers, who surrendered to him personally, in this celebrated battle. For his gallant conduct, he received the thanks of Congress, and a silver medal. At the battle of Eutaw Springs, General Greene directed Col. Howard to lead the Maryland line to the charge with fixed bayonets, a mode of fighting, desperate as it was, for which the line had become famous. In his efforts to drive the enemy from his position, the Colonel was left with only one commissioned officer and thirty men. Undaunted in his zeal, he was leading this little intrepid band to another charge, when he was severely wounded. From this wound he never entirely recovered. He fought in the battles of Germantown, White Plains, Camden and Monmouth. After the war he retired to his estate, in the vicinity of Baltimore city. In 1788, he was chosen Governor of Maryland, and in 1796, he was elected a member of the United States Senate. In 1798, when Gen. Washington was placed at the head of the American army, in anticipation of a war with France, Col. Howard was chosen Brigadier General by him. He was a member of the committee of vigilance, during the late war with Great Britain. His heroic reply to a proposition, discussed in the committee of vigilance, for the city of Baltimore to capitulate to the enemy after the capture of Washington city, is worthy to be held in lasting remembrance by every American patriot. With the flush of indignation upon his war-worn cheeks, he sprang upon his feet and exclaimed, "I have, I believe, as much property in the city as any member of the committee, and I have four sons in the field, but I would sooner see my property in ashes, and my sons in their graves, than consent to listen to any proposal of capitulation." It was a remark of General Greene, "that he deserved a statue of gold no less than did the Grecian and Roman heroes." He died in the year 1827. The funeral was attended by his Excellency John Quincy Adams, then President of the United States, and by the Heads of the Departments of the United States, and the principal citizens of Washington and Baltimore.

General Events during the year 1841.

JANUARY.

1. The celebrated Mandamus case in which Wm. B. Stokes, Lucius W. Stockton, and Daniel Moore were plaintiffs, and Amos Kendall, Postmaster General of the United States, defendant, was in progress in the Circuit Court of the United States, in the District of Columbia. The declaration claimed damages to the amount of one hundred thousand dollars.

1. The new Patent Office at Washington was completed, and thrown open.

5. The Court of Common Pleas, (Pennsylvania,) divorced James Enni, Sen., from his wife Emma Haines. The parties were related to each other as grand-father and grand-daughter. The decree of the Court goes to declare that a man cannot marry his grand-daughter any more than he can his grand-mother.

5. The Pennsylvania Legislature met at Harrisburg, and every member was in his place, the last having arrived the evening before. A rare instance of punctuality.

6. A great and sudden change of temperature, from extreme cold to warm, took place, followed, on the 6th and 7th, by a great fall of rain. The snow was rapidly dissolved; the Hudson, Passaic, Delaware, Schuylkill, and other rivers and streams of water, in the Northern, Middle, and some of the Southern States, rose to an unusual height, numerous bridges were carried off in different parts of the country, roads rendered impassable, and a great amount of property destroyed.

8. The House of Delegates of Maryland refused to hoist the Star Spangled banner on the State House, in honor of the celebrated victory of Gen. Jackson over the British troops at New Orleans.

10. The Susquehanna river rose so high, and ran so rapidly, that the boat with U. S. Mail and passengers from Philadelphia to Baltimore, could not pass. Several bridges between Baltimore and Havre de Grace, were destroyed.

20. A circular was addressed by Capt. Elliott to the subjects of the Queen of England, in China, announcing that arrangements have been made with the government of China to the following effect:—1. The cession of the island and harbor of Hong Kong to the British crown. All just charges and duties to the empire, upon the commerce carried on there, to be paid as if the trade were to be conducted at Whampoa. 2. An indemnity to the British government of 6,000,000 dollars, 1,000,000 dollars payable at once, and the remainder in equal annual instalments, ending in 1846. 3. Direct official intercourse between the two countries upon an equal footing. 4. The trade of the port of Canton to be opened within a few days after the Chinese new year, and to be carried on at Whampoa, till further arrangements are practicable at the new settlement.

25. A shock of an earthquake was felt in the city of New York and vicinity, to such a degree as to excite considerable alarm.

27. Alexander McLeod, of Upper Canada, under arrest on a charge of being engaged in burning the steamboat Caroline, at Fort Schlosser, during the military occupation of Navy Island in 1837, was admitted to bail in the amount of $5000. When this fact became known, the indignation of the people of Lockport was so much excited, that they assembled in great numbers, and prevailed on the bondsmen to withdraw the bail which they had given, so that McLeod was continued in confinement to await his trial.

30. The town of Mayaguez, Porto Rico, consisting of about 600 buildings, was consumed by fire. Loss stated from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000.

FEBRUARY.

5. The Pennsylvania Bank of the United States, after having, from the time of the general resumption of specie payments, on the 15th of January, a period of twenty days, "paid out an amount little, if at all, short of six millions of dollars, in coin or specie funds, suspended specie payments. This event produced a great excitement, and was followed by an exhibition of its affairs, which were so unfavorable as to cause great surprise. The suspension was soon followed by the other banks in Philadelphia, the banks of Baltimore, &c.; but the banks of New York and New England continued to pay specie.

10. The union of Upper and Lower Canada takes place. Lord Sydenham, Governor General of British North America, takes the oath of office as Governor of Canada, under the act for the union of the Upper and Lower Canada's into one province.

21. The emigrant ship called the Governor Fenner, bound from Liverpool to New York, having a crew of eighteen, including the captain, and one hundred and six steerage passengers or emigrants, about two o'clock in the morning, twelve hours after sailing from Liverpool, came in collision with the Nottingham steamer from Dublin. It being excessively dark at the time, no assistance could be rendered, and the Governor Fenner suddenly sank. All on board perished except the captain and first mate.

22. A land slide in the commune of Gragnano, in Italy, occurred, by which one hundred persons lose their lives.

22. The town of Reggio, in Calabria, the southern province of Italy, was nearly destroyed by an earthquake.

25. The Bogue Forts and the city of Canton were captured by the English. The number of prisoners taken at Chuen-pee, was stated at 1,000, and the killed and wounded on the side of the Chinese were said to be very numerous. Canton was almost deserted by its inhabitants.

26. The Irish Registration of Voters' Bill, at the end of a debate of four days, passed in the British House of Commons by a vote of 290 to 294.

MARCH.

4. The inauguration of General Wm. Henry Harrison, as President of the United States, took place at Washington in presence of a concourse of spectators variously estimated at from 50,000 to 60,000. The Inaugural Address was despatched from Washington to New York, by railroad, in eleven hours.

11. The English Steam-packet President sailed from New York for Liverpool, having a crew of eighty-one persons and twenty-eight passengers; in all 109 souls. Nothing has been heard of her since. The President is said to have been the largest steam vessel ever built; burden 2,360 tons;—loss about $584,000;—insurance $288,000.

15. The rivers and streams of water in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and Alabama, rose to an extraordinary height, in consequence of great rains. The rains commenced in the upper country, on the 9th of March, and the waters in the lower country began to rise about the 12th or 13th, and by the 15th or 16th, the roads in many parts were under water. Much damage was done to towns, villages, and to property on the rivers, also to railroads and other roads. Some of the rivers, as the Ogeechee, Oconee, and Ockmulgee, in Ga., are said to have risen higher than they did in the great Yazoo freshet in 1796, or at any time since.

17. President Harrison issued a proclamation calling an extra session of Congress, to be convened on the 31st of May, to consider "sundry weighty and important matters, chiefly growing out of the state of the revenue and finances of the country."

28. Captain Elliot, the chief superintendent of the British commerce in China, says in his proclamation, "A suspension of hostilities at Canton and in the province, has been this day agreed upon between the imperial Commissioner Yang and the undersigned.—It has further been publicly proclaimed, under the seals of the Commissioner and the acting Governor of the province, that the trade of the port of Canton is open, and that British and other foreign merchants, who may see fit to proceed there for the purpose of lawful commerce, shall be duly protected."

27. A tremendous storm occurred at St. Louis and vicinity, lasting about fifteen minutes, and completely covering the ground with hail.

APRIL.

4. Wm. Henry Harrison, President of the United States, died at the President's mansion, in Washington city. He was the first President who died in office. On the 7th the funeral obsequies were performed, and an immense concourse assembled from different parts near the Capitol, to pay their testimony of respect to the memory of the deceased. There were pall-bearers in the procession representing all the states and territories in the Union.

5. Nearly one-quarter of the town of Antigua, in the island of Antigua, West Indies, was destroyed by fire. Loss estimated at about $300,000.

12. There was a great snow storm in Pennsylvania and New York, &c. The snow fell to the depth of a foot in New York city.

12. The residence of the late President Harrison, at North Bend, was partially destroyed by fire. The conflagration originated by accident.

13. Vice President, now President Tyler, issued his recommendation to the people of the United States, that a day of humiliation, fasting and prayer, should be observed throughout the country, in token of submission to the stroke of Divine Providence, which deprived the nation of its Chief Magistrate. He appointed the 14th of May for the purpose.

19. The ship William Brown, of Philadelphia, on her passage from Europe, was lost at sea under the most distressing circumstances. Of a crew of seventeen, and sixty-three passengers, eleven only were saved. The crew threw a number overboard after they had succeeded in getting on board the boats.

23. A treaty between the United States and Portugal, which was concluded August 26, 1840, was ratified.

MAY.

4. The post office in New Market, New Hampshire, was burnt. Letters, papers, post office accounts, &c. all lost. A number of other buildings also destroyed.

11. The crew of the bark Recovery were examined in New York, relative to a wreck seen by them, which they supposed to be the steamship President. Nothing satisfactory could be elicited. The captain was much censured for not boarding the wreck.

14. The day was universally observed throughout the Union, as a day of fasting and prayer, in accordance with the recommendation of President Tyler. Business was suspended, and all the churches open for religious services.

15. A Constitution was decreed by the Legislature of Yucatan, and published at Merida, the Capitol. The state declared its independence of the Republic of Mexico.

17. A large portion of the rock, (about 250 feet of the cliff) on which the defences of the city of Quebec is built, fell away, causing the ruin of several houses and buildings, and the death of about thirty persons.

21. The foreign trade of Canton was suspended, and hostilities were renewed between the Chinese and English. The principal batteries for the defence of Canton, were suppressed on the 24th; the British troops landed and took possession of the heights in the rear of the city, after a severe action, on the 25th; and, on the 27th, a capitulation took place, by which the Chinese agreed to pay $6,000,000 in one week, as a ransom for the city; also that the Chinese troops, except those of the province, should be withdrawn within six days, sixty miles into the interior, and that all losses sustained from the partial destruction of the factories, should be paid. The sum of $6,000,000 was actually paid as stipulated.

24. Mr. Fox, the Minister Plenipotentiary of her Britannic Majesty, writes to Mr. Webster, Secretary of State for the U. S.; out of which grew a lengthy and important correspondence.

28. A great flood of waters in Georgia and South Carolina. The river Savannah is said not to have risen so high for a century. Boats passed through all the streets of the city of Augusta. Many wooden houses were carried off, the foundations of many others undermined or injured; many cattle, horses, &c., were floated off, and much other damage was done.

29. The New York National Theatre was burnt by incendiaries. Cost of the theatre about $50,000.

31. The Extra Session of Congress called by President Harrison, met at the Capitol. Hon. John White, of Ky. was elected Speaker on the first ballot.

JUNE.

4. The resolution moved by Sir Robert Peel, "That Her Majesty's ministers do not sufficiently possess the confidence of the House of Commons, to enable them to carry through the House measures which they deem of essential importance to the public welfare," passed the House of Commons by a vote of 312 to 311.

8. The President and Directors of the Pennsylvania Bank of the United States, entered a suit in the District Court against Nicholas Biddle, late president of the institution, for a large amount.

15. The town of Praia, in the island of Terceira, was completely destroyed by an earthquake. Much damage was done to other places in the island by a series of earthquakes.

16. The steam-packet Columbia arrived at Boston, after a passage from Liverpool of twelve days and eight hours, being the shortest passage, by four hours, yet made from England to the United States.

18. The new Constitution of the newly constituted "State of the Isthmus of Panama," was publicly sworn to, and Dr. Thomas Herrera elected President.

22. The British Parliament was prorogued by the Queen. On the next day, the proclamation of the Queen, dissolving the parliament and calling another on the 19th of August, was published in the Royal Gazette.

25. Major General Andrew Macomb, Commander in Chief of the Army of the United States, died in Washington city, about 2 o'clock, P. M. He was in the sixtieth year of his age.

13. Barney Gallagher was tried for the murder of his wife, and convicted of murder in the second degree. He was sentenced to the penitentiary for seventeen years and six months.

18. The Firemen of the city marched in procession through the principal streets. They made a magnificent display of apparatus, banners, and badges. The apparatus of nearly all the companies, were tastefully decorated with flowers. They proceeded to Monument square, where a prayer was offered to the Throne of Grace by Rev. Dr. Henshaw, and an address delivered by John Nelson, Esq.

DECEMBER.

4. The Northern lights made their appearance, exhibiting a scene of beauty seldom seen. The radiations of light were very brilliant, and there was a luminous arch, which spread quite across the heavens.

5. A bull which broke from a slaughter house in the eastern part of the city, was chased through many of the streets, and finally killed near the Baltimore street bridge.

5. The schooner De Kalb, loaded with wheat, was capsized in the river. She filled with water, and sunk immediately. The crew were saved.

9. William Lorman, Esq. one of the wealthiest and most respectable merchants, died in his 77th year.

12. A man by the name of Griffin, aged about forty-two years, during the night, which was very dark, fell over a precipice in Mulberry street, and was killed. He was found in the morning with his face buried in the sand. There were slight contusions on the head and face, produced by the fall.

13. The convention which had been engaged for several weeks, in endeavoring to equalize the currency of the city, after recommending the Mayor to convene the City Council, adjourned sine die.

14. A barrel of varnish burst near the stove, in the druggist store of G. Ober & Co., N. Charles street. It took fire immediately, and a man who was holding it, was severely burnt.

15. An inquest was held over the body of a young woman by the name of Watkins, who died suddenly, at the house of her step-father on Long Dock. The stomach was removed by two physicians in attendance, and when examined by a celebrated chemist, a quantity of arsenic was discovered. A young man of her acquaintance, was arrested and committed to prison, on suspicion of knowing something of the circumstances attending her death, but there being no evidence against him, he was soon after released. Whether the arsenic was taken by herself, or given by another could not be ascertained.

Fires in Baltimore during the Year 1841.

Perryman's, - - - - -	28 "	Philadelphia, - - - -	98 "

Arriving in Philadelphia at about 4 o'clock, P. M.—Fare, $4.00.

Returning, leaves the corner of 11th and Market streets, Philadelphia, daily, at 8 A. M., and arrives in Baltimore at about 3 o'clock, P. M.

In summer, two daily trains are run in each direction, (except on Sundays,) when the mail train only is run.

Names of Agents:—A. CRAWFORD, Baltimore, and JOHN FRAZIER, Wilmington, Superintending Agents; S. R. Abbott, Baltimore, R. M. Magraw, Havre-de-Grace, Geo. W. Moore, Cecil, Z. Rudolph, Elkton, J. R. Higgins, Wilmington, and W. L. Ashmead, Philadelphia, Ticket Agents; John Royer, Robert Hill, Wm. Adrean, and Collins Denny, Conductors of Trains.

Baltimore and Susquehanna Rail Road.

The passenger cars run daily, (Sundays excepted,) to York and Columbia, starting from the Ticket office, No. 56, North, near Saratoga street.

Leave Baltimore at 8 1-2 o'clock, a. m.

York, 1 3-4 " p. m. Fare, - - - $2 00

Arrive in Columbia 3 " p. m. " " " 2 62

Returning, leave Columbia at 9 o'clock, a. m. and arrive in Baltimore at three o'clock, p. m.

By the above arrangement, a connection is formed at Columbia with cars and stages to and from Philadelphia, Lancaster, Harrisburg, Carlisle, &c.

Goods intended for transportation to any point on this road, received daily, (Sundays excepted,) at the Belvidere Depot, North street extended, only between the hours of 8, a. m. and 4, p. m. A ticket, stating the kind and quantity, to whom, and by whom sent, must accompany the articles, and if a receipt is required, one must also be sent for the Agent to sign. Nothing can be forwarded to points on the line of the road between York and Baltimore, unless the freight is previously paid.

D. C. H. BORDLEY, Superintendent.

Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road.

(Depot in Pratt, between Light and Charles streets.)

Merchandise for transportation to the several Depots on the line of the "Man Stem" and "Washington Branch," is received at the Depot, in Pratt st. daily, between the hours of 8 a. m. and 3 p. m., under the following regulations, viz.:

1st.—All goods offered for transportation must be distinctly marked, and be accompanied by a list, in duplicate, of the number and description of Packages to be forwarded, the name of the consignee and of the party forwarding the same—otherwise they cannot be received.

2nd.—Goods destined for delivery on the line of the Winchester Rail Road, must be consigned to the care of the "Agent of the Winchester and Potomac Rail Road Co." at Harper's Ferry; and as the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road Company do not permit consignments to be made to its Agents, commodities intended for individuals residing at places distant from the rail road, or for transshipment to Canal Boats, must be consigned to some resident at the point of delivery on the road, known to the Agent—otherwise they cannot be received.

3d.—Cotton and other articles requiring extraordinary care and space, will be forwarded, only, under special contract.

4th.—The freight accruing upon all commodities destined for any point of delivery on the main road and Washington Branch, where the Company have no Agent, must be paid on delivery of the goods to the Forwarding Agent, at Pratt street Depot.

5th.—The freight accruing upon all produce brought in on the road, must be paid on delivery. Entire car loads of commodities will be delivered at any designated point on the city tracks, but fractions of loads will be delivered only at Mount Clare Depot.

The Passenger Trains of this Company depart daily from the Ticket Office in Pratt street, as follows, viz.

64 Executive Government of the United States.

The 14th Presidential term of four years, since the establishment of the Government of the United States under the Constitution, began on the 4th of March, 1841; and it will expire on the 3d of March, 1845. William Henry Harrison, of Ohio, having been elected by a majority of 174 of the electoral votes, was, on the 4th of March, 1841, inaugurated President of the United States in the city of Washington, and died at 12½ o'clock, a. m. on the 4th of the succeeding April. In consequence of this event the duties of the office have devolved on John Tyler, of Virginia, who had been elected by the same majority Vice President.

JOHN TYLER, of Virginia, President of the United States. Salary, $25,000 per annum.

JOHN TYLER, JR., Private Secretary to the President of the U. States. Salary, $1,500 per annum.

The design of the Publisher was to give information in regard to every institution of any importance in the city; but owing to the neglect of the officers of some of them, he has not been enabled to include them in this volume. He hopes, however, to be able to overcome this difficulty, and present in future numbers the information desired. The accounts here given, though not as full as they might have been, if the volume had been of larger size, will not be altogether without interest, and furnishes such general information as will enable any one to form a correct idea of each institution, its design and usefulness. He respectfully suggests to such officers as desire their Societies to be represented in the next volume, to send in their accounts before the 10th of October.

Washington Monument.

This chaste and splendid structure stands in the centre of a square of 200 feet diameter, formed by the intersection of Monument and Charles streets. The area around the base of the Monument, enclosed by an iron railing, is about 100 feet in diameter. The corner stone was laid on the 4th July, 1816, and the statue was placed on the summit on the 19th October, 1830. The height of the monument, from the eminence on which it stands, is 180 feet. Above tide, 280 feet. Height of the statue, 15 feet; weight, 16 tons. Number of steps to the gallery surmounting the capital, 220.—Robert Mills, architect. Robert Gilmer, president of board of managers; F. Lucas, jr. secretary; James Barrol, treasurer.

Battle Monument,

Erected in Monument square, under the direction of the city government, to the memory of the brave citizens who fell in defence of the city at the battle of North Point and bombardment of Fort McHenry, on the 12th and 13th of Sept. 1814. The corner stone was laid on the 12th of Sept. 1815. The shaft of the monument presents a fascies, symbolical of the Union; the rods are bound by a fillet, on which are inscribed the names of the heroes killed, because by their glorious death they strengthened the bands of the union. The fascies is ornamented at the bottom on the north and south fronts with Bass-relievs, one representing the battle of North Point and death of General Ross; the other, the bombardment of Fort McHenry. On the fronts, east and west, are Lachrymal urns, emblems of regret and tears. On the top are two wreaths, one of laurel, expressive of glory; the other of cypress, expressive of mourning. Each centre of the Egyptian cornice is adorned with a winged globe; the globe represents eternity, the wings, time, which flies. The edifice is entirely of marble, surmounted by a colossal statue, representing the city of Baltimore. The head of the figure wears a mural crown, emblematic of cities. In one hand is a rudder, emblem of navigation; in the other she raises a corona of laurel as she looks towards the field of battle. At her feet are an eagle of the U. S. and a bomb, in memory of the bombardment. The monument is enclosed with an iron railing, outside of which are chains fastened to marble cannons. The height, without the statue, is 42 feet 8 inches—the statue, 9 feet 6 inches—total height, 52 feet 2 inches above the platform. The drawings were presented to the city by M. Godefroy, Esq. The sculpture was executed by Signor Antonio Capellano.

Baltimore City and County Jail.

The Jail is situated on the eastern bank of Jones' Falls, about half a mile from the centre of the city. It is built of brick, and is surrounded by a strong stone wall. Number of prisoners on the 1st of January, 1842, 88. Of whom were debtors, 9; criminals, males, 45; females, 15; confined for assault and battery and on peace warrants, 19. James Disney, warden; Thos. O. Sollers, clerk; John D. Nicoll, gatekeeper; Jas. Pamphileon, William Dames, George Fogleman, deputy wardens.

Maryland Penitentiary.

The Penitentiary is situated on Madison street, east of Jones' Falls, separated from the jail-yard by a stone wall. The buildings are of brick, and consist of a keeper's house in the centre, with wings, in which are the cells for the confinement of the prisoners. In the rear are numerous workshops. The buildings are surrounded by stone walls, strong and high, upon the tops of which are walks for the watchmen, with balustrades on both sides, to allow them to walk in safety, and small houses to screen them from the weather. The report of the directors for 1841, states that the number of prisoners has gradually diminished since 1836—so that in the year 1841, there were eighty-nine less than in 1836. The average profit earned by the labor of each prisoner is $53.48, beyond the expense of their maintenance. Number of prisoners on the 30th November, 306. J. G. Davies, H. W. Baxley, M. W. Jenkins, R. Howard, H. R. Lauderman, and L. W. Gosnell, directors. William Houlton, warden; James McEvoy, clerk.

Military Companies in Baltimore.

The uniformed Volunteer Corps of the city of Baltimore are comprised, generally, in the First Light Division of Maryland Volunteers, in pursuance of the provision of the act of Assembly of 1835, chap. 295. This Division is composed of two Brigades,—the First and Second Light Brigades,—and each Brigade is composed of two Regiments.

The First Light Brigade is composed of the First Regiment of Artillery and the Fifth Regiment of Infantry and the Second Light Brigade of the First Rifle Regiment, and the Fifty-third Regiment of Infantry. Besides these, there is the Fifth Regiment of Cavalry, and Capt. G. P. Kane's corps of Eagle Artillerists, which are attached to the Third Division Maryland Militia, under the command of Major General John Spear Smith.

The Baltimore City Guards are not uniformed, and in fact are almost without organization. By the acts of Assembly of 1835, chaps. 11 and 207, authority is given to raise a Company in each ward of the city; but there never were more than three or four organized, and of these but one, we believe, exists,—that of the First Ward, under Captain Cooney, which is fully uniformed and equipped. The City Guards are divided into two Regiments, and the whole Brigade is under command of General Columbus O'Donnell.

BALTIMORE BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

[This Directory contains a list of the names of persons engaged in business, with the occupation of each, and the place where their business is conducted. The different professions, as well as the names are alphabetically arranged, affording at once, a key to the enquirer, and an advertisement to the tradesman. By this arrangement the knowledge required in regard to the person or the firm sought, may be obtained at a glance. It was the design of the publisher to have given a complete list of all the business men in the city; but owing to the backwardness of some in handing in their names, business, &c. he has not succeeded in making the Directory as perfect as would have been desirable. In another year he hopes to overcome all difficulties, and present the citizens of Baltimore with a full and entire epitome of the operations of the whole city. To effect this end, the publisher will make it his business, during the ensuing summer, to collect the names, and learn the business and residence of every Professional man and Tradesman within the limits of the city,—all of which will be given in the next number of the Directory, without charge, and in the style of the following pages, except that advertisements will be excluded. It is in contemplation to reduce the price of succeeding numbers of the work so as to place it within the reach of every individual in the city—and as the name, business and residence of all business men will be given, the publisher confidently anticipates a corresponding increase of the sales of the work, from which alone can he expect any remuneration for the necessary time and great expense of collecting and arranging the matter for publication.]

 Keevil, 66 1-2 Baltimore st. a few doors below Holliday, and exactly opposite Tripolet's alley. Facts! facts! facts! Keevil's cheap hats triumphant!—Who has the hardihood to deny that Keevil sells a greater quantity of one priced hats than any other in Baltimore? Such is the case—for people, one and all, are beginning to open their eyes, and act wisely, by purchasing of the one priced Keevil. His splendid hats are sold at the following prices:—He will sell a $5 Russia hat for, remember, $3.50; he will sell a $4 silk hat, remember, for $2.50; he will sell a $5 or $6 Nutria beaver hat, bear in mind, for only $4; and last, though not least of all, don't forget that any person having purchased a hat at his store, which should prove, on examination, not to be exactly and precisely as good as represented by the seller, the purchase money thereof shall be refunded, on the hat being returned within the space of one week from the sale. So come, one and all, to the anti-humbug store.

Oil Stores.

Bailey, P. A. dealer in Webb's Patent Burners and Camphine Oil, 109, Baltimore st. Constantly on hand a general assortment of lamps, adapted to every use,—for safety, brilliancy, economy and simplicity of construction, they far exceed anything that has ever been offered; and as a recommendation, it is only necessary to state that we have now over thirty thousand in successful operation in the United States. Recollect, No. 109 Baltimore st.

Greenough, B. F. Patent Lamps and Chemical Oil, No. 99 1-2 Baltimore st. where he has now on hand a complete assortment of lamps for stores, shops, churches, factories, hotels, etc., consisting of a new style of shadowless lamps for parlors, study, Liverpool, mantel, side and branch lamps, etc. This article has been used in many of our principal hotels and most respectable families for upwards of two years, with entire satisfaction—not a single instance having occurred during this period wherein the purchasers availed themselves of the agent's guarantee. Any one so disposed can be satisfied that a single burner will emit more light, at an expense of one cent per hour, than three ordinary burners, consuming sperm oil at an average expense of three cents each. Another, and not the least advantage from its use, is the simplicity of the construction and cleanliness of the Chemical Oil. It is warranted to be a far better and cheaper artificial light than any other now in use. Every lamp will be warranted—if not perfectly satisfactory, can be returned. Those about purchasing lamps would find it for their advantage to call at the store, as above, where the different kinds may be seen in operation.

Spilcker, C. W. wholesale and retail dealer in Lamp Oil; Sperm and Tallow Candles; Lamps of every description; Lamp-glasses; Wicks, etc. etc. No. 106 Baltimore st.

City Government of Annapolis for 1842.

A. C. MAGRUDER, MAYOR. | JOHN JOHNSON, RECORDER.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.—Richard Goodwin, Thomas Alexander, Daniel
 T. Hyde, Dennis Claude, Alexander Randall.

BOARD OF COMMON COUNCIL.—Thomas Ireland, George Johnson, G.
 Munroe, George Wells, William McNeir, Richard Swann, William Brewer.

Sketch of the City of Annapolis.

In the year 1642, the Assembly of the province of Virginia passed an act to prevent dissenting ministers from propagating their doctrines in the Colony. The Puritans, however, in defiance of the law, kept up their conventicles for several years; until, in 1648, the government became still more severe in its enactments, and they were compelled to withdraw. In 1649, they removed in small parties to Maryland, and settled near the Severn river, calling their settlement "Providence." It afterwards bore the names of "Proctors," "Town land at Severn," "Town of Proctors," "The town land at Severn, where the town was formerly," "June Town," "Port of Annapolis." Finally, in 1708, it was chartered under the name of the CITY OF ANNAPOLIS. Before the Puritans were allowed to settle, or to hold any land in the colony, they were compelled to take an oath of fidelity to lord Baltimore, the lord proprietor under a grant from the king of Great Britain. The neck of land they occupied, was not inhabited at any previous period by Europeans. The Puritans becoming dissatisfied with the Government of the lord proprietor refused, in several instances, to send delegates to the Assembly, which met at St. Mary's, and becoming refractory, they seized upon the government—turning out the colonial officers, and appointing others in their places. The lord proprietor, displeased at this movement, directed his friends not to submit tamely to such innovation. They accordingly armed themselves, and succeeded in quelling the insurgents, and reducing them to submission to the government of the lord proprietor.

In 1674, the seat of government was, by an act of Assembly, removed to Annapolis. The records were removed from St. Mary's in bags well packed with cordage and hides, under a strong guard. In 1698, by an act of Legislature, an academy was established under the title of "King William's School." In 1697, the state library was commenced, and the state house erected. The state house was destroyed by fire in 1704; rebuilt in 1706. The first number of the Maryland Gazette, edited by Jonas Green, was issued in 1745. In 1774, the brig Peggy Stewart, laden with tea, was publicly burnt in the port. On the 6th July, 1776, the delegates of Maryland met in the State House, and resolved that the king of Great Britain had violated his compact with the people, and that they owed him no allegiance whatever. They empowered their delegates in Congress to join with a majority of the United Colonies, in declaring them free and independent States. The people were called upon to contribute, as they had ability, to the great object of freeing the country from foreign oppression, and to place the State in a position of defence. So eager were the citizens of Maryland, in their efforts to save their land from the ravages of an enemy, that in August, 1781, with one day's notice, two thousand three hundred militia assembled at Annapolis. An attack was expected from the British fleet which had entered the Chesapeake bay. The attack, however, was not made, and the fleet passed up York river. From 1780, Annapolis began to decline, and Baltimore to take the advance; and while the latter has continued to increase with almost unprecedented rapidity, her patriotic sister has not altogether declined. She has maintained her ancient landmarks, and possesses as much of the true nobility of nature as any city of her size in the country.

THE undersigned begs leave to present the business community and the public generally, the first volume of the "BUSINESS DIRECTORY AND BALTIMORE ALMANAC," which it is his intention to continue every year, as long as he may enjoy life and health, and the work meet the approbation and patronage of the public.

That such a work is desirable, there can be no doubt; and its advantages may be readily seen by referring to the variety of its contents, which set forth, as far as possible, in the first issue, the entire internal operations of the city of Baltimore, and furnish valuable information in regard to other cities.

The miniature size of the work renders it very convenient both for the counting room and the traveller, as it may be readily attached to the desk or carried in the pocket. As a reference book, it cannot but be of great advantage to all who desire information upon the numerous subjects referred to in its pages.

As this is but the beginning of the enterprize, and has thus far met with more favor than was anticipated, the publisher indulges a confident hope that it may be continued through many years, with constantly increasing interest both to himself and his friends. The knowledge gained by actual experience, in preparing for the first emission, will be of more value, to the publisher than any pecuniary profit he could possibly derive from it; and it is his purpose to apply that experience with untiring industry in his future efforts, and he cannot for a moment entertain the least fear but that he shall be able to give entire satisfaction to every individual who may patronize his exertions.

The volume for 1843 will be commenced early, and as many additions and improvements are contemplated, it is hoped that all interested in the success of a work so desirable, will respond to his call for information in relation to every subject of interest connected with the city.

In future, a complete list of the Business Community will be given, without charge, and without reference to subscriptions for the work; and it would be well for those who contemplate a change in business on the first of January, to advise the publisher of it as early as possible, so that he may be correct in his publication of their names, places of business, etc.

The knowledge gained by actual experience, in preparing for the first emission, will be of more value, to the publisher than any pecuniary profit he could possibly derive from it; and it is his purpose to apply that experience with untiring industry in his future efforts, and he cannot for a moment entertain the least fear but that he shall be able to give entire satisfaction to every individual who may patronize his exertions.

The volume for 1843 will be commenced early, and as many additions and improvements are contemplated, it is hoped that all interested in the success of a work so desirable, will respond to his call for information in relation to every subject of interest connected with the city.

In future, a complete list of the Business Community will be given, without charge, and without reference to subscriptions for the work; and it would be well for those who contemplate a change in business on the first of January, to advise the publisher of it as early as possible, so that he may be correct in his publication of their names, places of business, &c.

The next volume will be beautifully got up,—the inside will be embellished with appropriate devices, and the cover will be embossed in a very splendid style.
